

Creating a spacious open look, this screen is truly semi-frameless with an anodised or powder coated slimline frame running around the perimeter and featuring a frameless door.

Using heat-toughened safety glass the screen uses a dual pivoting system allowing the door to open inside and out. The door pivot is a patch fitting which attaches through a hole in the glass preventing the door from dropping.

The butt finished glass panels require a clearance, allowing some water spray to escape. Optional plastic seals to prevent this are available.

The aluminium frame and patch fittings are anodised or powder coated in a colour to compliment your bathroom.

The 6mm 300 Series offers the same open look as the 10mm at a more affordable price.
